Question 1

- How to...
Appreciate Death
Metal

3 Remember that in death metal, unlike many other genres, each band almost always writes their own music. That includes the riffs, drums, solos, and lyrics. Writing your own music demonstrates another dimension of instrumental mastery and talent, as well as making the music more personal and less manufactured.

Question 2

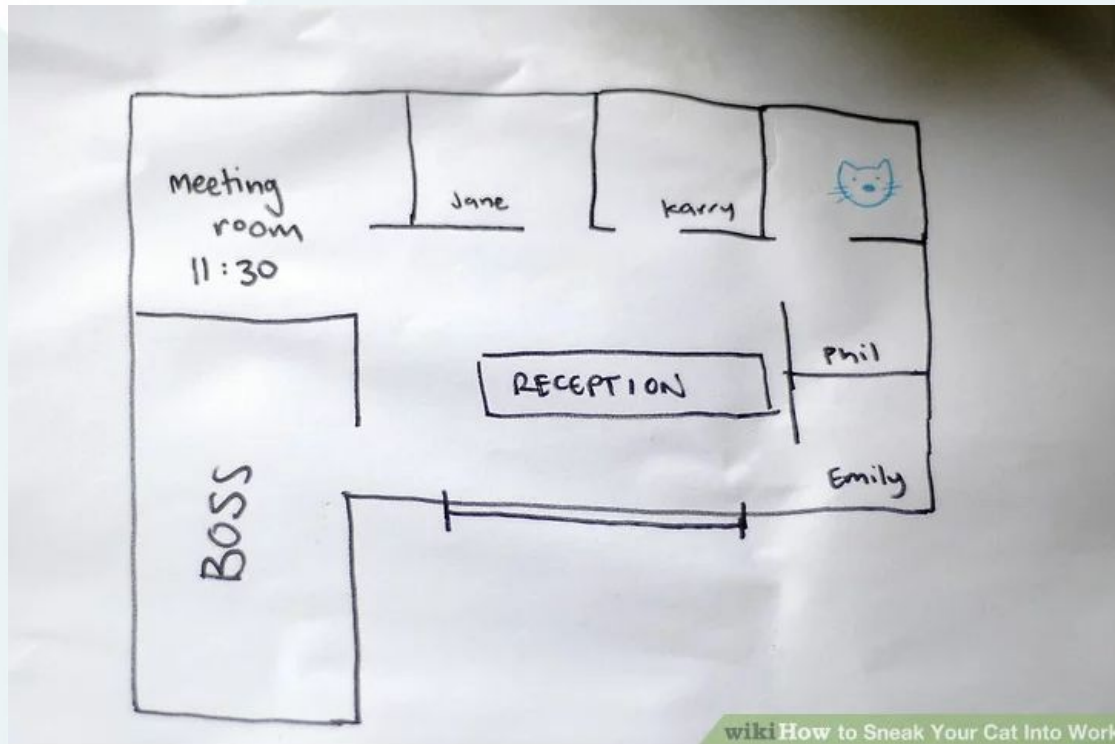

- How to...
Act Like You're Possessed

6 Do unnerving things in public. Sit in a chair facing the wall and laugh hysterically to yourself. Be seen having furtive conversations with no one in dark corners. Rock back and forth catatonically while repeating a phrase under your breath. Hiss at people suddenly as you walk by them.

- This is another area in which you don't want to overdo it to be believable. Start with an isolated incident and have them grow more frequent and weirder as time goes by.

Question 3

• How to... Sneak Your Cat Into Work

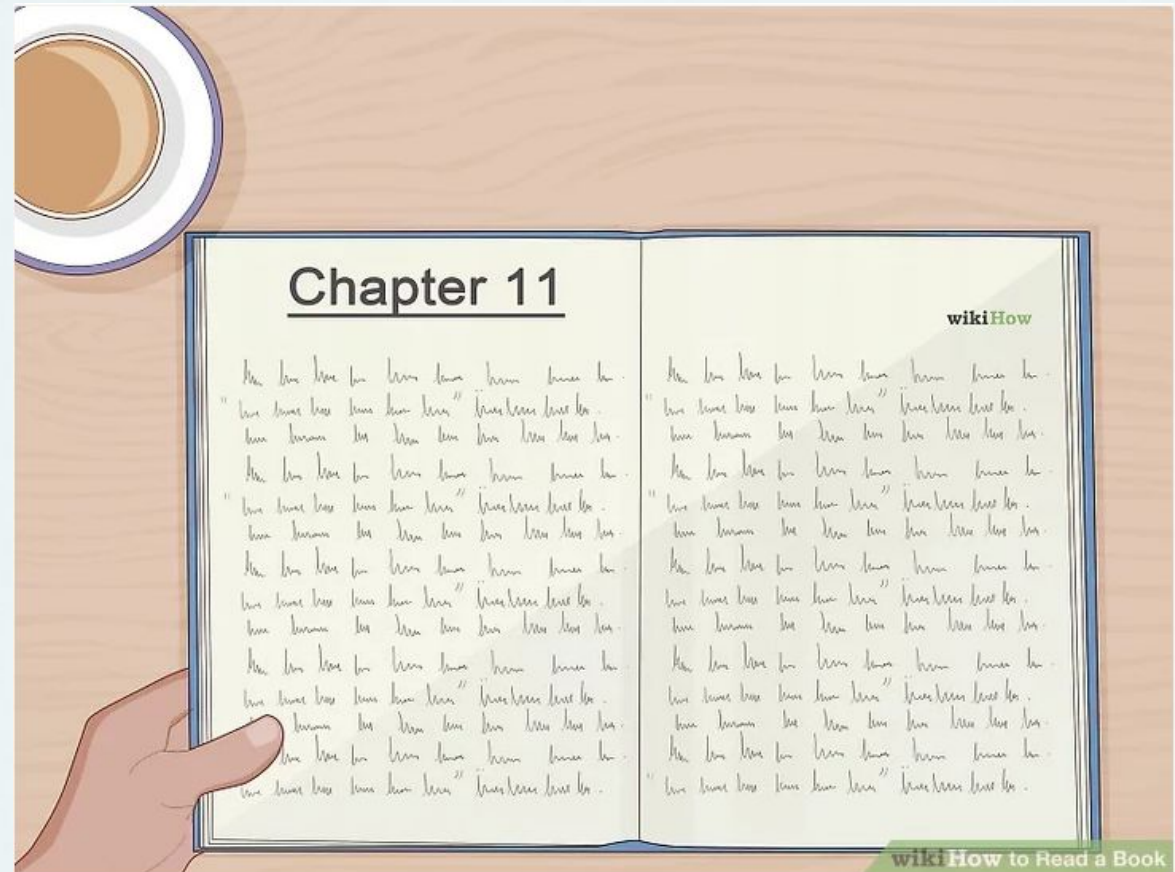

1 Be absolutely certain of where your boss and other co-workers will be throughout the day. This will enable you to ascertain the best way to get your cat into the office and away from everyone. Mentally review your boss's schedule in order to determine if there are any opportunities where you might get caught. For the cautious cat smuggler, try the following tips:

- Know the layout of your office so that you know precisely, where your boss will be sitting in relation to your area – in particular, know his or her line of sight to your desk or workspace.

Question 4

- How to...
Read a Book

2 Read by chapter. In most cases, it isn't necessary to read a textbook straight through from start to finish, but it isn't very useful to jump from section to section, either. Instead, every time you have to read even part of a chapter, if you haven't done so already, plan to read that entire chapter.

- Understand more of what you read. Reading the whole chapter in order once will put all the information you need into a solid context, making it easier to understand

Question 5

wikiHow to Treat Nosebleeds in Dogs

3 Apply ice and pressure. To stop the nosebleed in the moment, use an ice pack. Wrap ice in a cloth or washcloth so it isn't too cold, then hold it up to your dog's nose, on the bridge. Apply light pressure in the area. The cold should help the blood vessels narrow, making the blood stop flowing.^[4]

- You should apply pressure until the bleeding stops. If it hasn't stopped after about 20 minutes, consider taking your dog to the vet.

Question 6

- How to...
Regrow
Vegetables

wikiHow to Regrow Vegetables

- 2 Fill a container with water and place the vegetable in. Share container space, so if there is room without the vegetables touching place them in the same container.

Question 7

- How to...
Prune Guava
Trees

2 Prune away all of the previous year's growth to encourage new fruit. Because guava fruit only grows on new wood - wood that has grown that year - heavily pruning away the wood that sprouted the year before won't hurt your fruit production. Feel free to prune away all of the previous year's growth.^[6]

Question 8

- How to...
Keep Mosquitos
Away At Night

3 Cover your skin up as much as possible. Wear covered shoes and clothes that cover your arms and legs. Try to stick to light colors if possible, as mosquitoes are attracted to dark colors.^[5]

- Lightweight clothes are the most practical due to the heat in summer.

Question 9

- How to...
Repel Chickens

1 Spray the chickens with water. When you see chickens wander into your garden, give them a quick spray with a standard garden hose. Keep the water pressure light so that it scares the chickens without hurting them.^[1]

- The chickens will usually return shortly after you spray them the first time, but if you do this consistently enough, they may eventually associate your yard with the water and start to avoid it.

Question 10

- How to...
Strategize

2 Strategize one issue at a time. If you have several issues that need to be addressed, you will need several strategies. Strategy is a custom process, not a one-size-fits-all solution.
